IICL Launches Exams in Chinese Language

The IICL is happy to introduce Mandarin as an additional language option to its Inspectors' Certification Exams. Starting on 6 December 2021 the IICL Inspector's Certification program candidates for reefer and dry van containers will be able to choose from one of three languages offered to take the exam at the time of registration. The Chinese version adds to the current Spanish and English versions and reinforces IICL's mission and commitment to facilitate the spread of professional education in the global container field.

With the support and assistance of its members, the IICL was able to expand and facilitate its industry accredited certification program to Chinese speaking candidates.

IICL's President, Dennis Lombardi commented, "I am proud of the work being done by the IICL team with the help of our members and widening the opportunities to inspectors around the world that are not fluent in English to become certified professionals. IICL's mission to promote industry education is very important to us. In addition, more educational projects are in the pipeline and we look forward to future developments as we complete 2021 celebrating our 50th anniversary."

IICL Marketing and Technical Directors, Eliseo Mena and Luiz Goncalves have been in the container industry for a long time and are happy to see new developments and activities being promoted by the association. "We are proud and excited to be part of important role played by the IICL in the industry promoting education, safety and professionalism."

Candidates to the Inspectors' Certification program will have to choose the language they want to take the exam at the time of the registration. More details about the IICL exams are available at <https://testing.iicl.org/education/catalog/>
